WASHINGTON (AP) — Three years and nine months after he started the bombing of North Vietnam, President Johnson has ordered an end to all attacks against that country in the hope this will "lead to progress" in ending the war in Southeast Asia.

Johnson warned that his arrangements with North Vietnam are not foolproof and he held open by implication the possibility the bombing would be resumed if the North Vietnamese went on the offensive.

"We could be misled—and we are prepared for such a contingency," he said. "We pray to God it does not occur."

Johnson started the bombing of North Vietnam Feb. 7, 1965. At the heart of the deal he made to bring it to an end is an agreement that the Paris peace talks will enter a new phase next Wednesday.

At that time representatives of both the South Vietnamese government and its enemy, the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam, take their places at the negotiating table.

The President did not say specifically why he thought the North Vietnamese had finally decided to make terms on ending the bombing, but he suggested that they might have acted because they no longer saw a chance of victory in South Vietnam.

Apart from expanding the peace talks by adding the Saigon government and the National Liberation Front, the arrangement calls for re-establishing the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam and for a stop to enemy terror attacks on the cities and towns of the South.

Hours before Johnson acted enemy rockets fell on Saigon but U.S. officials said this did not violate the new bomb-halt arrangement, not then in effect.

Restoration of the DMZ has long been advocated by the United States in the Paris peace talks as a means of de-escalating the war.

For several years enemy forces have struck from or through the zone at American and allied forces in the northern part of South Vietnam.

U.S. bombers will continue to attack troops and supplies moving on the trails in Laos. U.S. commanders have orders to continue pressing the ground war in South Vietnam.

Officials also said Abrams has orders allowing him to retaliate quickly, without asking Washington, if the enemy attack from the DMZ or shell U.S. forces south of it.

Johnson said Thursday night that the decision to end the bombing was consistent with the requirements he had stated over the years.

He recalled that last August he had said he would not take the step without "good reason to believe that the other side intends seriously, to join us in de-escalating the war and moving seriously toward peace."

In his speech he made the case that he had found "good reason" in whatever responses he got from Hanoi plus the situation on the ground.

An estimated 40,000 or more North Vietnamese have been pulled out of the South in recent weeks, and there has been a lull in enemy offensive operations.

Last weekend Johnson summoned Gen. Abrams home from Saigon for a final face-to-face talk on Abrams' view of the bombing halt.

Abrams reportedly told the President he could live with a bombing halt because the North Vietnamese, having pulled back in various strategic areas, would require about a week to begin launching any offensive operations and he would thus have time to start counter-action.

THE BIG DA NANG alrbase in South Vietnam looks pretty quiet with that jet fighter-bomber under wraps — but the supply of bombs is ready to be loaded.

No Letup Seen In South Despite Halt Above DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — American air, naval and artillery bombardment of all of North Vietnam ended tonight on President Johnson's orders, the U.S. Command announced, but it said there would be no letup in operations in South Vietnam.

The Viet Cong also showed no sign of de-escalation in the South. In the 12 hours before President Johnson's broadcast announcing the bombing halt, an enemy mine blew holes in a U.S. Navy LST and killed 16 American sailors and a South Vietnamese, rocket attacks killed 33 Vietnamese civilians in Saigon and Hue, and 69 North Vietnamese and 12 Americans were killed in fighting north of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

Four hours before the President's broadcast, explosions tore open the side of the 384-foot LST Westchester County as she swung at anchor in the My Tho River 34 miles southwest of Saigon. The blasts ripped into the landing craft's sleeping compartment, killing or wounding most of the men as they slept. Other sailors were killed at their watch stations.

In addition to the 17 known dead, 22 Americans were wounded, and seven Americans and one Vietnamese army interpreter were missing. Some of the latter were believed trapped in two compartments that were flooded.

Little more than two hours before President Johnson's broadcast, Viet Cong gunners slammed a 100-pound rocket into a small Roman Catholic

Mixed Reaction To Bomb Halt Given In Ohio

Fear For GIs, Hopes For End To War Mingle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Reaction by Ohio politicians to the North Vietnam bombing halt ranged from elation to concern about the dangers it could pose to soldiers in the field.

All the candidates expressed hope that the step would lead to peace.

"I think it's pretty great," said John J. Gilligan Democratic U.S. Senate candidate. "I think now that the effort I made with the others in Chicago, whatever the political ramifications might be, helped to bring this about and to end the bloodshed in Vietnam."

At the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, Gilligan was one of the leaders in an unsuccessful attempt to get a plank in the party platform calling for a bombing halt.

William B. Saxbe, the Republican senatorial nominee, expressed hope Thursday night that the halt "will lead to a speedy and complete peace" but added, "I hope no U.S. soldier will suffer because of it."

Republican Congressman Donald "Buzz" Lukens of Middletown said: "I wonder what it would feel like being a GI in Vietnam expecting air cover that is no longer there. If it is real, every American is glad and I'm glad too. I just hope to God its for real."

Also expressing concern about the added threat to American servicemen was GOP Congressman Clarence Brown Jr. of Urbana.

October Key Month In Bomb Talks Silence Order Issued By Top Brass

WASHINGTON (AP) — The big breakthrough in U.S.-North Vietnamese efforts to negotiate terms for a bombing halt began to develop last Sunday night.

It was then that secret word began to reach the White House from Hanoi on "the essential understanding," as President Johnson put it Thursday night, of the conditions for ending American attacks on North Vietnam.

But U.S. officials now believe that President Ho Chi Minh had made the basic decision about a month earlier to begin to de-escalate the war and move into serious peace negotiations.

Johnson and his advisers felt that Ho Chi Minh and his associates were paying a very high price to continue the war.

The political reason which appealed to U.S. policymakers was that the Republican and Democratic presidential nominees chosen in the summer—Richard N. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey—both could be expected to carry on Johnson's policy of demanding conditions for halting the bombing.

Some of Johnson's advisers told him that Hanoi either had to move toward substantial peace negotiations in early October or wait several months until a new president was installed in the White House.

The chief U.S. negotiator in Paris, Ambassador Averell Harriman, had advised as early as August that if Hanoi felt it could get an acceptable deal with Johnson it would undoubtedly do so.

On Sept 17 Johnson had conferred with Harriman and reviewed his conditions for halting the bombing. According to administration officials these were essentially that:

1. The demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam would be respected by Communist forces as well as U.S. and allied troops;
2. That North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops would not make terror attacks on Saigon and the other cities and towns of South Vietnam;
3. That representatives of the Saigon government of President Nguyen van Thieu would be admitted to the second phase of the Paris talks, following the bombing halt.

For a number of years, participating agencies of the Community Fund have had enough money to operate through a joint effort of one united appeal. Naked Pair Breaks Up HHH Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Demonstrators, led by a naked man and woman, broke up a Humphrey-Muskie rally before it really got started Thursday night.

John Kenneth Galbraith, author and economic adviser to the late President John F. Kennedy, had just approached the lectern at Manhattan Center when the crowd of 2,000 was startled by the unclothed couple.

The woman had dashed down the aisle carrying the head of a pig on a tray. She was grabbed by spectators who covered her with a coat. Then her male companion seized the pig's head, leaped to the stage, and presented it to Galbraith.

Some of the demonstrators, who called themselves the "underground," handed out leaflets referring to President Johnson as a "politically dead pig" to Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey as a "fascist pig," and to Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon as a "Nazi pig."

The naked man and woman put on their clothes and left. Police let them go, saying no one had pressed charges against them.

Viet Radio Says Fight To Continue

HONG KONG (AP) — Radio Hanoi declared Friday night that the "fight against the Americans will continue until the last one is driven from our land"—but maintained silence on President Johnson's announcement of a complete bombing halt.

"Peace will come to Vietnam only when there is not a single U.S. aggressor remaining in all our nation," the official North Vietnamese radio said in a Vietnamese-language broadcast beamed to South Vietnam.

The broadcast came as Radio Hanoi passed the 12-hour mark without making direct mention of President Johnson's announcement.

State Health Director Dr. E. W. Arnold said the revision plan shows Toledo and Cleveland at the top of the priority list for modernization of obsolete hospital facilities.

U.S. Bombing Of North Vietnam Generally Felt A Failure

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States spent about half a million tons of bombs, nearly $2 billion worth of planes and hundreds of pilots were killed. But it failed in the main objective of its air war against North Vietnam.

That objective was to cut the level of infiltration of men and arms from the North into South Vietnam.

The flow of North Vietnamese soldiers doubled and redoubled during the more than 3½ years of the bombing campaign—even before President Johnson spared most of North Vietnam from U.S. air attack starting last March 31.

And, despite the interdiction campaign, the Viet Cong were re-equipped with new and increasingly sophisticated Red Chinese and Soviet-supplied weapons, many of them heavy rockets and artillery-type weapons.

Senior military officers believe that the air assault could have been successful; that it might have shortened the entire Vietnam war, including the ground fighting in the South.

But, they claim, former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, backed by Johnson, prevented the military from striking North Vietnam as heavily and rapidly as possible.

They contended that the closely controlled, gradually increased buildup of bombing pressure did little more than give the other side time to adjust.

The U.S. generals and admirals found their views echoed by a powerful Senate committee which declared "we shackled the true potential of air power."

Civilian leaders reply that the course of action favored by the military chiefs involved grave risks of bringing a clash with the Soviet Union and Red China, particularly if the military had been permitted to close the port of Haiphong.

The tight restrictions on targets, the firm ban against bombing populated areas—these, say the civilian leaders, were necessary to keep the war limited.

But even this limited bombing campaign which began on Feb. 7, 1965 has cost the United States 911 airplanes.

Most of the 469 Air Force men listed as killed in aircraft incidents died over the North. The same is true of most of 139 Navy men and some of the 102 Marine pilots and air crewmen killed aloft.

The Air Force lists 519 men missing, and most of these are either dead or captives in the North. This goes also for the bulk of 115 Navy men and some of the 88 Marines carried in the missing roster.

The bulk of 139 Air Force and 130 Navy men listed as captured also are believed to be in the North.

American warplanes have flown roughly 100,000 missions

over the North since the campaign began.

The Pentagon says that a total of more than 2.8 million tons of bombs have been dropped on targets in both North and South Vietnam.

The first U.S. bombing of North Vietnam was in August 1964 in retaliation for PT boat attacks on American destroyers patrolling the Tonkin Gulf. After this brief incident, there were no more raids until the sustained air war against the North opened the following February.

When the attacks were ordered on Feb. 7, 1965, they were described by both the White House and McNamara as retaliatory, a strike-back at North Vietnam for Vietcong border at-

Church in the Saigon dock area, killed 20 worshippers and wounded 64. The big Russian missile sent large chunks of the walls and roof into the congregation as early Mass was nearing its end.

Firing from the southern outskirts of Saigon, the Viet Cong shelled the capital three times Thursday night and this morning, presumably as a gesture of contempt for South Vietnam's National Day observance today. Military spokesmen said 24 South Vietnamese civilians were killed and 81 wounded by 16 shells that fell in the city.

It was the first shelling of Saigon in a month.

Three other towns were shelled during the night.

Fifteen rounds of 122mm rockets fell in Hue, the old imperial capital on the northeast coast; nine civilians were reported killed and 13 wounded.

The other targets were My Tho, the chief city in the Mekong Delta, and Nha Be, site of a big oil depot across the river from Saigon.

Fighting broke out near the Cambodian border along the northern invasion routes into Saigon. North Vietnamese troops, attacking under the cover of rockets and mortars, hit an American patrol base, 59 miles north of Saigon twice before dawn. The U.S. Command said the infantrymen from the 1st Division along with artillery and gunships drove off the attackers and killed 27 of them. But 12 Americans were killed and 56 were wounded, a spokesman said.

Silence Order Issued By Top Brass

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command in Vietnam muzzled its GIs today after President Johnson's bombing halt announcement, but the President's action aroused little enthusiasm and considerable criticism among the men.

The order went out from Gen. Creighton Abrams' headquarters to make no comment on the decision to halt the bombing of North Vietnam. A spokesman said the order was issued in accordance with a directive barring members of the armed forces from voicing opinions on political matters or other things outside their competence. He said the bombing halt was a political matter, not military.

Before the directive was issued, however, newsmen gathered opinions from a number of soldiers. Much of the comment was adverse, and several men said they believed the purpose of Johnson's decision was to get Hubert H. Humphrey elected president.

Many expressed fear that after seven years of fighting and 29,000 American dead, the United States might settle for a peace that would let the Communists take over Vietnam. None thought the pace of the war would slow down.

Staff Sgt. Benjamin Estes of Gadsden, Ala., a Korean War veteran, said: "I just can't see us letting all those sacrifices be in vain. I'm willing to stay longer to get the thing really settled. If the war stops, it has to stop so there will be a permanent peace. If it's a Korean-type settlement it will all start up again in a while."

"I feel sorry for the guys in the field," said Spec. 4 George Gensel of San Francisco. "It will be a whole lot worse. Look what happened when we slowed the bombing before. Things got a whole lot worse."

Spec. 4 Fred Hyre, an Army mortician from Jacksonville, Fla., said: "I've seen the bodies of 8,000 GIs come through this year alone. It would be just great if the kids stop dying. But in the past the Communists haven't played square with us, and we can't forget that."

"I think it's just a deal to get Humphrey elected," said Spec. 4 Jim Heil of Chicago. "I'm afraid we're just setting ourselves up. But I guess it's worth the risk if it really finishes this damn war."

An Army Special Forces sergeant who declined to give his name said: "It doesn't really make any difference to me. Johnson can stop it or not stop it. I've got no faith in the Communists."

Spec. 4 Robert Kershaw of Florissant, Mo., said: "If it will get the GIs out of here, I say do it. My time is almost up, but there are a lot of guys coming behind me to do their tours."

"I don't think we should be here in the first place," said Pfc. Dennis Cassidy of Columbus, Ohio. "It looks like we gave in to an ultimatum from Hanoi, but I can't really tell."

"It will make a lot of people mad in the States if they've lost sons for nothing," said Pfc. James Nance of Muncie, Ind.

But even this limited bombing campaign which began on Feb.

7, 1965 has cost the United States 911 airplanes.

Most of the 469 Air Force men listed as killed in aircraft incidents died over the North. The same is true of most of 139 Navy men and some of the 102 Marine pilots and air crewmen killed aloft.

The Air Force lists 519 men missing, and most of these are either dead or captives in the North. This goes also for the bulk of 115 Navy men and some of the 88 Marines carried in the missing roster.

The bulk of 139 Air Force and 130 Navy men listed as captured also are believed to be in the North.

American warplanes have flown roughly 100,000 missions

over the North since the campaign began.

The Pentagon says that a total of more than 2.8 million tons of bombs have been dropped on targets in both North and South Vietnam.

The first U.S. bombing of North Vietnam was in August 1964 in retaliation for PT boat attacks on American destroyers patrolling the Tonkin Gulf. After this brief incident, there were no more raids until the sustained air war against the North opened the following February.

When the attacks were ordered on Feb. 7, 1965, they were described by both the White House and McNamara as retaliatory, a strike-back at North Vietnam for Vietcong border attacks on U.S. bases in South Vietnam.

On Christmas eve in 1965 Johnson ordered the bombing of North Vietnam halted, but 37 days later, lacking any response from Hanoi, he ordered it resumed, saying that "if continued immunity is given to all that support North Vietnamese aggression, the cost in lives... will only be greatly increased."

Last February, about two months before limiting U.S. bombing to the southern panhandle of North Vietnam, Johnson declared that "we shall continue to give our men the protection it (the bombing) afford" until the United States receives a sign from Hanoi that North Vietnam would not step up its (Continued on Page 2)

Laos Still Bomb Area

SAIGON (AP) — The end of the U.S. bombing and shelling of North Vietnam does not mean the end of the aerial campaign against North Vietnamese troops and supply columns heading for the South.

Most of these columns do not pass within miles of the frontier between North and South Vietnam. They travel through neighboring Laos along what is called the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

More than half of the bombs dropped by U.S. pilots in recent months have been aimed at trucks and men on this trail. It is part of a major bombing campaign carried out in Laos since late 1964. Although neither the U.S. nor the Laotian government has admitted that anything other than armed reconnaissance missions are being flown, every type of U.S. warplane including the giant B52s has flown raids on targets in Laos.

Local Student Named Delegate To Conference

Marion A. Brehmer, 17-year old Circleville High School senior, was named one of the students who will make up Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co's delegation to the Chicago conference Nov. 21-23. She is one of the top-ranking high school seniors in the National Youth Conference on the Atom Selection Test.

The annual conference is sponsored by 65 investor-owned electric companies and the National Science Teachers Association. This year 800 students from most of the 50 states are expected to attend.

The C&SOE delegation will leave for Chicago by chartered coach Nov. 20. William R. Hughes, Bexley High School science department chairman; James Hidy, Central High School biology teacher; James P. Altman, health science research teacher and John W. Robison, C&SOE Director of Educational Activities, will accompany the students.

Marion is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brehmer Jr. of 895 Atwater.

MOST ORIGINAL — The five Garrett children won the prize for the most original costume in the division for eight to 14-year-olds. They were among 325 people to take part in the Thursday night Halloween Parade. The Garrett children are Richard, Jimmy, Jeff, Jerry and Cindy.

More than 300 spooks, goblins and monsters roamed the streets of Circleville for the Halloween Parade Thursday night led by the CHS Band.

Participants in the Chamber of Commerce and Jaycee sponsored parade ranged in age from 9-year-old Billy Raymond to Martha Purcell, who refused to give her age.

Grand prize of the evening went to Don Barton for his beast costume. Barton also won first prize in the division for Halloweeners 15-years and older.

Judging was divided into three divisions by age and then into groups for the prettiest, ugliest and most original costume.

Liu Shao-chi Fully Ousted In Red China

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist party has voted to expel President Liu Shao-chi from the party and "dismiss him from all his posts both inside and outside it" as well as "continue to settle accounts with him and his accomplices," a Peking report said today.

Hsinhua (New China) News Agency said the action was taken at an extraordinary meeting of the Communist party Central Committee that began deliberations Oct. 13 and ended them Thursday.

This was the first meeting of the committee since the start of the cultural revolution, or purge, that party Chairman Mao Tse-tung launched in August 1966, against Liu and his supporters.

The conference officially singled out Liu by name for the first time in giving approval to Mao's policy, the agency said.

Mao presided over the session and made "a most important speech," followed by one by his heir apparent, Defense Minister Lin Biao, the agency added.

A conference communiqué, distributed by Hsinhua, denounced Liu as a "renegade, traitor and scab."

Boxcar Loaded With Feed Burns

The burning feed was discovered shortly before 7 p.m. Thursday. The car was on the Pennsylvania Railroad near the J. W. Eshelman and Sons mill.

Mixed Reaction U.S. Bombing . . .

"Let's hope that the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong will cooperate in this bombing halt," he said. "He added that the American people should be aware that it may be a long time before peace really comes to Vietnam, noting that many Americans died while negotiations dragged on in Korea."

Republican Congressman Charles Whalen Jr. of Dayton said he did not think the political influence of the bombing halt could "be assessed until after election day."

Sam Devine, Republican Congressman from Columbus, termed the timing of President Johnson's announcement "suspicious." "I have been predicting for several weeks now that some dramatic announcement would be made," he said.

Devine reserved judgment on the possible effects of the announcement on the presidential election, but observed: "I don't think Mr. Nixon will be dropping out of the race."

terrorism and aggression if the bombing were halted.

Otherwise, he said, "the enemy force in the South would be larger and better equipped. The war would be harder and longer. It would claim more American lives."

And on Sept. 10, about a month before the new U.S. peace initiative surfaced, Johnson told the American Legion national convention in New Orleans that he insisted the bombing would not stop until the United States is confident this would not lead to higher casualties.

In speaking about the cost to Hanoi, Johnson and McNamara frequently alluded to anywhere from 300,000 to 500,000 civilians who allegedly had to be diverted from the economy to repair bomb damage to keep the lines of communication open.

But since the March 31 limitation, at least half have returned to their previous occupations, according to intelligence estimates.

Much of the physical havoc has been repaired.

Both rail lines running north-east and northwest of Hanoi to China have been repaired and revamped with a new third rail which permits freight cars of different gauge to move smoothly from Chinese railroads to those in North Vietnam, without any transshipment of cargo.

New bridges have been built, many of concrete, to replace those shattered in the years of bombing. Alternate routes, using natural cover, have been built. Main roads have been hard-topped and waterways have been dredged.

Some factories have gone underground between Hanoi and Haiphong, presumably as a precaution against possible resumption of bombing. These are mostly munitions and vehicle assembly plants.

Priority cargoes arriving aboard Soviet ships in Haiphong reportedly include road-building equipment and cement, indicating an even wider development of transportation routes in North Vietnam in the months ahead.

The Thai Nguyen steel plant north of Hanoi, repeatedly blasted by American bombers, is reported operating at up to 80 per cent of normal capacity.

Barge repair yards hit in the latter stages of the air offensive late last year are said to be back in operation and many "mini-ports" have been built along North Vietnam's rivers to accommodate shipping.

Six North Vietnamese airfields capable of handling jets are now usable once more. They too were major targets at the height of the bombing offensive.

The North Vietnamese have been slow to bring their MIG fighters down from safe havens in Red China, even though most of North Vietnam has been free of bombing for months.

There are now about 50 MIGs on North Vietnamese bases and another 100 in China.

County Board Airs Vo-Ed School Plans

The Pickaway County Board of Education met Thursday in the office of Pickaway Superintendent of Schools George D. McDowell.

A discussion of a joint vocational high school was held. The proposed Ross-Pickaway-Fairfield vocational plan has been killed by a lack of interest on the part of several of the school districts involved.

Chillicothe Schools, Fairfield County Schools and Westfall School District have all withdrawn from the plan, McDowell said. He added that Teays Valley has shown interest in aligning that district with a Franklin County vocational school.

A representative of the State Department of Education will be at the local superintendents meeting next Thursday to discuss vocational schools.

The county board also discussed attending the Ohio School Boards Assn. meeting, the county teachers workshop and the National School Administrators convention.

Idled Teenagers

Teenage gainful employment, whether during the summer months, in the evenings or over weekends during the school term — or over holidays and prolonged vacations from school — is disappearing in the United States.

This is due less to changing wishes of teenagers than to the whims of Congress. Many young people still in school could benefit monetarily, in experience and a better appreciation of what working for a wage is all about, if they weren't covered by minimum wage laws, along with many other marginal workers.

The minimum wage which must be paid any employee of a firm engaged in interstate commerce, as Congress has decreed, is an artificial barrier to a free labor market. In five rapid steps since 1950 the minimum has been raised to a level many employers are unable to afford for an inexperienced and untrained worker.

Prof. Yale Brozen of the University of Chicago has studied the effects three recent increases in the minimum wage have had on teenagers. Teenage unemployment was 2.5 times average for the total work-seeking population before the minimum was raised in 1961, after which it rose to 2.7 times. After the 1963 minimum wage raise, teenage unemployment jumped to 3.4 times the total average. No effect is yet measurable of the 1967 increase.

But Congress already has been discussing yet another increase on the misguided notion it somehow is helping the marginally employables by pricing them out of the labor market.

Catholics For Nixon

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

As polls and straw votes become more sophisticated in their techniques, it takes an extra amount of skill to analyze them and interpret them.

Take the New York Daily News straw vote, for example. This poll, which consists of three reportings spaced out over the concluding phases of the campaign, has always proved a good indicator. We are not knocking it, but this year it may require some pretty close interpretation to predict what it means nationally.

To begin with, as masterminded by Lou Harris, it has shifted the incidence of its sampling between reportings this year. The first installment of the poll showed Nixon with a four per cent lead in New York State. The second installment, announced a few days later, showed Humphrey climbing, with the Nixon edge cut to two per cent. But the second sample included six predominantly Negro districts which were omitted from the first, while some pro-Nixon areas were dropped the second time around. Moreover, the proportion of big city votes in the second sample was bigger than it had been in the first, giving the poll a possibly accelerating urban bias. All of which suggests that, speaking broadly, Nixon has probably had a three per cent advantage over Humphrey all along, which is close enough to make it a horse race but does not tell us much about a changing trend.

The truly astounding thing about the first polling is established when the big Catholic areas are analyzed. This has excited the Nixon people who remember that the Catholic vote in 1960 gave the election to Nixon's opponent John F. Kennedy. In district after district in the New York City boroughs of Queens and the Bronx the shift has been to the Republicans and Nixon, not, as was feared at first, to the Independents and George Wallace. In the 22nd AD of Queens it was 67 per cent Nixon, 13 Humphrey, 19 Wallace. In the 30th, it was 76 Nixon, 10 Humphrey and 14 Wallace. In the 34th, Nixon got 45 per cent, Humphrey 29, and Wallace 26. In the 38th, which is part of Charlie Buckley's old Democratic fief in the Bronx, the count showed 57 Nixon, 19 Humphrey, 24 Wallace.

In the Coney Island residential region, where the large Jewish population has always gone heavily for the Democrats, Humphrey finishes first, with 49 per cent against a rather astonishing 40 for Nixon.

So much for the pro-Nixon drift of the Catholics and, to a lesser extent, the Jews. Ironically, this has been happening at the very same time that the WASP, or White Anglo-Saxon Protestant, straw vote in the silk-stocking area of Manhattan Island (John Lindsay's old Congressional bailiwick) was going heavily for Humphrey, with 57 per cent to Nixon's 38. The WASPs on Staten Island, however, seem predominantly for Nixon, as do those who live in upstate New York.

Let us say that the Daily News poll could be on the nose for New York State, even though there might be an argument about the validity of shifting the sample areas from installment to installment. What makes it truly tantalizing to the Nixon analysts is not what it shows for New York, which they have always thought might be lost. The true impact of the New York poll will only be understood when its value as an indicator of national Catholic sentiment is established one way or the other.

What the Nixon analysts are hoping is that if Catholics are going for Nixon in the metropolitan New York area, they are also going for him in northern New Jersey, in the Connecticut cities of Norwalk, Stratford, Stamford and New Haven, in the Italian parts of Philadelphia and among the East European ethnic groups of Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Chicago. The WASP "opinion makers" who work for the big publishing companies, the news magazines and the TV-radio broadcasting stations on the upper East Side of New York may be all for Humphrey, but they could be vastly outnumbered by the ethnic and religious groups that liked John F. Kennedy in 1960 but can't take Hubert Humphrey now.

Harry Truman in 1948 derided what he called the "sleeping polls." But this is another year, and the longer that such things as the New York school strike go on, the harder it is for Humphrey to recapture the new middle-class groups that were for JFK at a time when we still had law and order.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The practice of medicine now includes every facet of the physical, emotional and social aspects of the patient. The total patient must be considered if the prime object of good medicine is to be achieved, namely, continued physical and emotional good health. The American Medical Association is so fully aware of the importance of this type of structured medicine that it has formed a close alliance between practical medicine and religion. Regular meetings of this significant chain in the health cycle are constantly being held for the special guidance of patients in conflict and in confusion, to bring to them additional inner security and peace.

At first glance the intimate relationship between religion and medicine may evade some people. When one considers, however, that spiritual guidance by religious advisors is often the first line of defense against the massive problems of daily living, it becomes more apparent that this bond is a vital one. A remarkable book by Dr. Carl Hermann Voss, in Search of Meaning, has just been published by Excalibur Books. In it Dr. Voss emphasizes that all peoples, from ancient times to now, reflect better health when they are given, by their beliefs, the assurance that life is meaningful, purposeful and filled with hope rather than despair.

Dr. Voss points out that the joy, beauty and abundance of living in good health depends on the inner glow of security that comes from having some form of faith. I was particularly impressed by this book on the living religions of the world, because there was emphasis on hope and encouragement rather than despair and anxiety. This supports the modern concept of the relationship between the mind and the body, which now is considered a single unit rather than two distinctly different parts of the total makeup of every human being.

Modern education has impressed on people everywhere that it is no longer a shame or stigma to seek help and guidance for an emotional problem. Mature adults now recognize that seeking such guidance is no different from requesting a physician's help for the treatment of a physical illness.

The angry man pays the greatest penalty for that anger by destroying his inner tranquility.

School Principals Open 3-Day Meet

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)—What has become of the inflation issue, and more broadly, of the entire consumer issue?

A sampling of opinion seems to indicate that a new and thicker layer of skin has grown over the passions so raw and irritated just a few months ago. The consumer seems to be jaded or inured.

Adding to the puzzle are some good reasons for expecting that consumer issues—such as rising prices, product quality, poor service—would have risen in tempo and become bigger election issues.

Prices, as an illustration, continue to rise. It now costs $12.22 for household purchases that cost $10 in the 1957-1959 period, and more increases are in prospect before the year's end.

Since consumers are voters, normally you might believe that pocketbook issues would make good campaign material. They have, but in a rather mild way. The most puzzling testimonial to consumer indifference to rising expenses is the near total disregard for the 10 per cent surtax on incomes. Many consumers continue to spend as if the tax doesn't exist. Why so?

—First, many workers have received pay increases that tend to offset the surtax. Take home pay for many breadwinners continues to reach all-time highs, despite higher taxes.

—People are slow to react. Spending patterns that were developed over a period of years are difficult to change. We know that many Americans even took money out of the bank to maintain their standard of living.

—An inflationary psychology is taking root. Instead of putting off purchases until prices come down, some consumers now are buying to avoid even higher prices in the future.

A peculiar absence of great emotion about consumer issues seems to emanate from the political campaigns, although the differences in candidates' attitudes are sharp and seem to contain the ingredients for a good argument.

The Rev. Robert McEwen of Boston College, president of the Consumer Federation of America, announced two weeks ago a drive to bring consumer issues into the campaign.

Father McEwen said he wanted to end "the policy of silence and avoidance" practiced by candidates in regard to consumer issues. But he has had much less success than he had hoped for.

"A most baffling thing," he said the other day. "There is a clear conflict in the positions of the candidates." But, said Father McEwen, he has been unable to arouse discussion of the positions.

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLE (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that I've learned that a society matron and the wife of an ambassador appeared at a party here in the same black satin

Yves St. Laurent pants suit, I don't feel so self-conscious about the nonexclusivity of my own wardrobe.

As a matter of fact, when I show up at a gathering in a dress identical to what some other woman is wearing, I'm in good company, historically speaking. The wife of a president of the United States once attended a ball wearing a famed designer's gown and found its twin right there on the scene.

Fortunately, when I run into a mirror-like image of myself, it's usually on the street or in an elevator, and my sister-in-style soon faces away into the crowd, after we have exchanged a grin of chagrin.

My embarrassment was of a longer duration, however, on a recent occasion when I spent a day at the office sitting next to a coworker who was wearing a blue version of the pink dress I was sporting. Now we consult each other in advance to receive priority before donning our look-alike garments.

Not only are you likely to meet your best friend wearing the same little number as you, but when you meet your mother for lunch her outfit also is quite likely to be like yours.

There was a time when you shopped in one department, your daughter in another and your mother still a third. These days your daughter may well turn up at school in exactly the same dress her teacher is wearing.

Every season there are a few best-selling styles that start at the haute couture level and work their way down to the bargain basements. Rosy O'Grady and the colonel's lady may buy their clothes in widely different price ranges but from a distance they look as though they had come off the same rack.

A few years ago I purchased a distinctively styled green dress, which was my favorite—until its counterparts began showing up all over the landscape. That dress came out in more different forms than the latest gossip at a ladies' teaparty.

I have finally found the solution for that problem. I put a dress that becomes overly popular away until all the purchasers of that style have worn out their copies and when I get it back out I have the field strictly to myself again.

British Are Worried

Boyd Horn and Frank Barnhill Jr. were successful candidates for City Council ward posts at the Nov. election.

Veteran officeholder, Ben H. Gordon defeated incumbent Richard Penn for office of mayor.

The Westfall School District operating levy was renewed in the election by a strong majority.

Miss Adelphena Logan of the Onondaga Indian Reservation, Syracuse, N. Y. and descendant of Chief Logan of Logan Elm fame, was guest speaker for the Pickaway County Historical Society at a meeting open to the public.

Orin W. Dreisbach, native of the county and retired farmer, died at the age of 72.

LONDON (AP)—"The Americans will be pulling out of British film making next year," predicts actor Michael Caine. His forecast expresses the growing fears of English film makers that their romance with U.S. movie companies is cooling.

Caine is a notable beneficiary of American interest in English films. From "Alfie" to his latest film, "The Italian Job," his starring movies have been backed with U.S. money. That is true of virtually all important films made in England.

"The Americans have been stung too many times," commented Caine. "They thought that all they had to do was hire directors who could present visual images. But the directors didn't know how to handle actors, and the pictures didn't turn out too well."

"Charles Bluhorn (of Paramount) was impressed when he picked up 'Alfie' for almost nothing and made a bloody fortune. But he found out that experience wasn't so easy to duplicate. After picking a number of losers, he's giving up on England."

The situation isn't as dire as

Caine paints it, but many American film executives, like Bluhorn, feel that it is time to re-trench on English production. The reasons for the cutback:

1. Pressures of Hollywood union leaders who have inveighed against "runaway production." These leaders have been vocal in the press and Congress with their efforts to stem the drain of film making overseas. They have helped to awaken film leaders to the necessity of preserving a domestic film industry.

2. The rise of production costs in England. Constant pressure for better terms on the part of British film unions has narrowed the cost difference between American and English film making.

3. Saturation of the American market with English film subjects. British actors, directors and writers have dominated American-backed films for five years; now the American public seems eager to embrace native actors and films. Witness the success of such films as "The Graduate," "Bonnie and Clyde," "The Odd Couple" and others.

When one considers, however, that spiritual guidance by religious advisors is often the first line of defense against the massive problems of daily living, it becomes more apparent that this bond is a vital one. A remarkable book by Dr. Carl Hermann Voss, "In Search of Meaning," has just been published by Excalibur Books. In it Dr. Voss emphasizes that all peoples, from ancient times to now, reflect better health when they are given, by their beliefs, the assurance that life is meaningful, purposeful and filled with hope rather than despair.

Dr. Voss points out that the joy, beauty and abundance of living in good health depends on the inner glow of security that comes from having some form of faith.

I was particularly impressed by this book on the living religions of the world, because there was emphasis on hope and encouragement rather than despair and anxiety. This supports the modern concept of the relationship between the mind and the body, which now is considered a single unity rather than two distinctly different parts of the total makeup of every human being.

Modern education has impressed on people everywhere that it is no longer a shame or stigma to seek help and guidance for an emotional problem. Mature adults now recognize that seeking such guidance is no different from requesting a physician's help for the treatment of a physical illness.

There are hundreds of thousands of square miles all over the United States in which there are no specialists for the treatment of neurotic complaints. The general practicing physician is truly the bulwark of support for people with psychological problems for which they need proper help and direction.

Religious advisors offer many people in far distant communities that advise and direction that sustains them until more intensive psychotherapy can be obtained. The close cooperation between these religious advisors and the physician sustains the mental balance in many people who are temporarily unable to extricate themselves from seemingly impossible emotional situations.

In "In Search of Meaning," the growth of religions is traced from the Grecian civilization, showing how philosophers have tried to explain the origin and meaning of life, and highlighting the close alliance between total good health and inner peace.

Another interesting book, by George and Muriel Beadie, called "The Language of Life," studies the new science of heredity, now blossoming and pointing its sights at explaining the "whys of birth and the control of evolution." In it the wonderful chemical building blocks of life show the relationship between the growth of science and modern civilization.

Here are two books, one philosophical and on scientific practical, united by a common aim: man's better understanding of himself to bring him better emotional and physical health.

The angriest man pays the greatest penalty for that anger by destroying his inner tranquility.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)—What has become of the inflation issue, and more broadly, of the entire consumer issue?

A sampling of opinion seems to indicate that a new and thicker layer of skin has grown over the passions so raw and irritated just a few months ago. The consumer seems to be jaded or inured.

Adding to the puzzle are some good reasons for expecting that consumer issues—such as rising prices, product quality, poor service—would have risen in tempo and become bigger election issues.

Prices, as an illustration, continue to rise. It now costs $12.22 for household purchases that cost $10 in the 1957-1959 period, and more increases are in prospect before the year's end.

Since consumers are voters, normally you might believe that pocketbook issues would make good campaign material. They have, but in a rather mild way.

The most puzzling testimonial to consumer indifference to rising expenses is the near total disregard for the 10 per cent surtax on incomes. Many consumers continue to spend as if the tax doesn't exist. Why so?

—First, many workers have received pay increases that tend to offset the surtax. Take home pay for many breadwinners continues to reach all-time highs, despite higher taxes.

—People are slow to react. Spending patterns that were developed over a period of years are difficult to change. We know that many Americans even took money out of the bank to maintain their standard of living.

—An inflationary psychology is taking root. Instead of putting off purchases until prices come down, some consumers now are buying to avoid even higher prices in the future.

A peculiar absence of great emotion about consumer issues seems to emanate from the political campaigns, although the differences in candidates' attitudes are sharp and seem to contain the ingredients for a good argument.

The Rev. Robert McEwen of Boston College, president of the Consumer Federation of America, announced two weeks ago a drive to bring consumer issues into the campaign.

Father McEwen said he wanted to end "the policy of silence and avoidance" practiced by candidates in regard to consumer issues. But he has had much less success than he had hoped for.

"A most baffling thing," he said the other day. "There is a clear conflict in the positions of the candidates." But, said Father McEwen, he has been unable to arouse discussion of the positions.

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLEV (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that I've learned that a society matron and the wife of an ambassador appeared at a party here in the same black satin

Yves St. Laurent pants suit, I don't feel so self-conscious about the nonexclusivity of my own wardrobe.

As a matter of fact, when I show up at a gathering in a dress identical to what some other woman is wearing, I'm in good company, historically speaking. The wife of a president of the United States once attended a ball wearing a famed designer's gown and found its twin right there on the scene.

Fortunately, when I run into a mirror-like image of myself, it's usually on the street or in an elevator, and my sister-in-style soon faces away into the crowd, after we have exchanged a grin of chagrin.

My embarrassment was of a longer duration, however, on a recent occasion when I spent a day at the office sitting next to a coworker who was wearing a blue version of the pink dress I was sporting. Now we consult each other in advance to receive priority before donning our look-alike garments.

Not only are you likely to meet your best friend wearing the same little number as you, but when you meet your mother for lunch her outfit also is quite likely to be like yours.

There was a time when you shopped in one department, your daughter in another and your mother still a third. These days your daughter may well turn up at school in exactly the same dress her teacher is wearing.

Every season there are a few best-selling styles that start at the haute couture level and work their way down to the bargain basements. Rosy O'Grady and the colonel's lady may buy their clothes in widely different price ranges but from a distance they look as though they had come off the same rack.

A few years ago I purchased a distinctively styled green dress, which was my favorite—until its counterparts began showing up all over the landscape. That dress came out in more different forms than the latest gossip at a ladies' tearparty.

I have finally found the solution for that problem. I put a dress that becomes overly popular away until all the purchasers of that style have worn out their copies and when I get it back out I have the field strictly to myself again.

British Are Worried

Boyd Horn and Frank Barnhill Jr. were successful candidates for City Council ward posts at the Nov. election.

Circleville voters turned down a $1,848,000 school bond issue to provide new facilities in the city.

Veteran officeholder, Ben H. Gordon defeated incumbent Richard Penn for office of mayor.

The Westfall School District operating levy was renewed in the election by a strong majority.

Miss Adelphe Logan of the Onondaga Indian Reservation, Syracuse, N. Y. and descendant of Chief Logan of Logan Elm fame, was guest speaker for the Pickaway County Historical Society at a meeting open to the public.

The Tigers of Circleville were SCO co-champs, sharing the honors with Wilmington. This was the third year in a row Circleville had either won or shared the SCO crown.

Orin W. Dreisbach, native of the county and retired farmer, died at the age of 72.

LONDON (AP)—"The Americans will be pulling out of British film making next year," predicts actor Michael Caine. His forecast expresses the growing fears of English film makers that their romance with U.S. movie companies is cooling.

Caine is a notable beneficiary of American interest in English films. From "Alfie" to his latest film, "The Italian Job," his starring movies have been backed with U.S. money. That is true of virtually all important films made in England.

"The Americans have been stung too many times," commented Caine. "They thought that all they had to do was hire directors who could present visual images. But the directors didn't know how to handle actors, and the pictures didn't turn out too well."

"Charles Bluthorn (of Paramount) was impressed when he picked up 'Alfie' for almost nothing and made a bloody fortune. But he found out that experience wasn't so easy to duplicate. After picking a number of losers, he's giving up on England."

The situation isn't as dire as

Caine paints it, but many American film executives, like Bluthorn, feel that it is time to re-trench on English production. The reasons for the cutback:

1. Pressures of Hollywood union leaders who have inveighed against "runaway production." These leaders have been vocal in the press and Congress with their efforts to stem the drain of film making overseas. They have helped to awaken film leaders to the necessity of preserving a domestic film industry.

2. The rise of production costs in England. Constant pressure for better terms on the part of British film unions has narrowed the cost difference between American and English film making.

3. Saturation of the American market with English film subjects. British actors, directors and writers have dominated American-backed films for five years; now the American public seems eager to embrace native actors and films. Witness the success of such films as "The Graduate," "In the Heat of the Night," "Bonnie and Clyde," "The Odd Couple" and others.

WCS Meeting Held Tuesday In Huber Home

Women's Society of Christian Service of St. Paul United Methodist Church met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Francis Huber at Stoutsville, with Mrs. Oakley Leist as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Frank Lands opened the devotional service with the song, "Rescue the Perishing." She used the lesson subject "You Are There" and developed the thought that doing for others is doing for Christ. The meditation was based on the Scripture, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you; for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that knocketh findeth, and to him that knocketh it shall be opened." The devotional service closed with silent prayer.

Reports were presented by officers and committee chairmen. The committee on missionary education reported on the number of missionary books read to date by members. A special committee reported the completion and installation of new drapes in the educational unit. The group voted to send money for the World Clothing Fund and for a Christmas gift for the Korean orphan the society supports. An invitation from the Tarlton United Methodist WSCS to a bazaar and tea was announced.

Mrs. Richard Ewing and Mrs. Robert Dahl were received as new members.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostesses.

The next meeting will be the Thank Offering Service to which all families of the church are invited. It will be preceded by a 6:30 p.m. carry-in supper at the church.

Tarlton Church Class Meets

Truth Seekers Class of the Tarlton United Methodist Church met Monday evening in the social room of the church.

Following group singing, the Rev. Donald Cummins read Scripture and led in prayer. The president, Mrs. Ray McJunkin, conducted the business meeting. Reports were given by Mrs. Joe Jenkins and Mrs. Lloyd Spung. The class will attend the Ford Philpot Crusade on Sunday School Night, Monday, Nov. 18.

Mrs. Spung was in charge of a contest "Name the Animals" with Mrs. Richard Hardley winning the award.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spung. The next meeting will be Nov. 25, with Mr. and Mrs. Ray McJunkin as hosts.

WSCS Meeting Held Tuesday In Huber Home

Women's Society of Christian Service of St. Paul United Methodist Church met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Francis Huber of Stoutsville, with Mrs. Oakley Leist as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Frank Landis opened the devotional service with the song, "Rescue the Perishing." She used the lesson subject "You Are There" and developed the thought that doing for others is doing for Christ. The meditation was based on the Scripture, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you; for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth, and to him that knocketh it shall be opened." The devotional service closed with silent prayer.

Reports were presented by officers and committee chairmen. The committee on missionary education reported on the number of missionary books read to date by members. A special committee reported the completion and installation of new drapes in the educational unit. The group voted to send money for the World Clothing Fund and for a Christmas gift for the Korean orphan the society supports. An invitation from the Tarlton United Methodist WSCS to a bazaar and tea was announced.

Mrs. Richard Ewing and Mrs. Robert Dahl were received as new members.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostesses.

The next meeting will be the Thank Offering Service to which all families of the church are invited. It will be preceded by a 6:30 p.m. carry-in supper at the church.

Long Steps Prove Block To Goblins

By KATHERINE A. PROKOP
Associated Press Writer
McKEESPORT, Pa. (AP) — From our front door we watched—as we have for many Halloweens—witches, spacemen, princes and hoboes shuffle along the street.

They dragged their brilliant-colored sacks, shouted, "Trick or treat!" and got their piece of booty.

The costumed youngsters then walked past our house—even though the cupboards were stocked full.

My father sells candy. But every Halloween has been the same—and this one followed the pattern.

Because our house sits on top of a slight hill with 30 steps between the street and the front door, few Halloweeners will clamber 30 steps—even for five or six candy bars.

From the street we could hear, "Boy, I'm too beat to go all the way up there."

A friend of a neighborhood child replied, "Yeah, but Ricky told me they give you six bars apiece—different kinds."

It's not that trick or treaters weren't welcome.

A rotund jack-o-latern flashed a toothless smile from its perch on the railing of the side porch, a skeleton covered with luminous paint jiggled in a front window and a bright light was aimed at the stairs to guide the Halloweeners and prevent spills.

The largest number of masked faces appearing at our door was 30. This year—like most—27 youths trekked the three flights. Neighbors get 100 to 150 trick-or-treaters.

Sheriff's Deputies Slay Auto Thief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ronald Lee Paszke, 33, Worthington, was shot to death Thursday as he tried to escape arrest by Franklin County sheriff's deputies.

Paszke was wanted by Columbus police on charges of speeding, resisting arrest and having no operator's license. Deputies said Paszke fled as they tried to arrest him in southeastern Franklin County and he was shot as he jumped into an unmarked sheriff's car and tried to drive off.

Stokes Case Continued To Nov. 18

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Muskingum County Probate Judge Hollard M. Gary Thursday continued until Nov. 18 a preliminary hearing on misconduct charges brought against Mayor Carl B. Stokes by the leader of a white supremacist group.

The judge took under advisement a motion by the mayor's attorneys to dismiss the case for lack of jurisdiction.

Judge Gary was assigned to hear the case after Cuyahoga County Probate Judges Frank

J. Merrick and Josep Bartunek disqualified themselves "for personal reasons."

The suit was brought by Roy F. Richards, head of the Citizens Committee for Law and Order of the United Citizens Council of America.

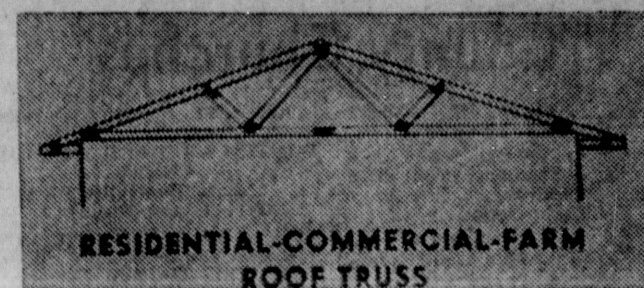

He alleges in his suit that Stokes, a Negro, channeled funds to militant Negro groups, that he identified himself with organizations opposing law and order and that he mishandled law enforcement during the Glendale disorders last July in which three white policemen and seven Negro civilians were shot to death.

Judge Gary took under advisement a motion by Richards to have the hearing moved to another county.

Richards' suit seeks to obtain Stokes' removal from office under an 1871 law.

Sheriff's Deputies Slay Auto Thief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ronald Lee Paszke, 33, Worthington, was shot to death Thursday as he tried to escape arrest by Franklin County sheriff's deputies.

Paszke was wanted by Columbus police on charges of speeding, resisting arrest and having no operators license. Deputies said Paszke fled as they tried to arrest him in southeastern Franklin County and he was shot as he jumped into an unmarked sheriff's car and tried to drive off.

Stokes Case Continued To Nov. 18

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Muskingum County Probate Judge Hollard M. Gary Thursday continued until Nov. 18 a preliminary hearing on misconduct charges brought against Mayor Carl B. Stokes by the leader of a white supremacist group.

The judge took under advisement a motion by the mayor's attorneys to dismiss the case for lack of jurisdiction.

Judge Gary was assigned to hear the case after Cuyahoga County Probate Judges Frank

J. Merrick and Josep Bartunek disqualified themselves "for personal reasons."

The suit was brought by Roy F. Richards, head of the Citizens Committee for Law and Order of the United Citizens Council of America.

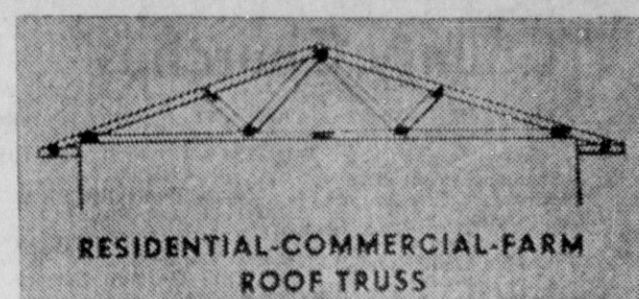

He alleges in his suit that Stokes, a Negro, channeled funds to militant Negro groups, that he identified himself with organizations opposing law and order and that he mishandled law enforcement during the Glendale disorders last July in which three white policemen and seven Negro civilians were shot to death.

Judge Gary took under advisement a motion by Richards to have the hearing moved to another county.

Richards' suit seeks to obtain Stokes' removal from office under an 1871 law.

Church Fees Abolished
ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Archbishop Hieronymos of Athens and all Greece has abolished mandatory payments to Greek Orthodox priests for officiating at weddings, funerals, baptisms and other church services.

In the future, "it is up to Christians to give any amount they consider proper," the Greek Orthodox primate declared in an encyclical. The funds, he said, "will be distributed between the church and its personnel."

Woman's Place In World Hotly Debated At College
CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) — "Should women be kept barefoot, pregnant and in the kitchen?"

That was the question debated Wednesday night by two students at all-male Hamilton College and two coeds from Hamilton's new sister school, Kirkland College.

The middle aisle of Hamilton's Science Auditorium served as the dividing line for about 250 students serving as judges, with Hamilton's men outnumbering Kirkland's women by about 7-5. The hour-long debate progressed amidst boos, cheers, hisses and applause.

Robert Linder, arguing the affirmative, said women were created second and should stay second. "When a woman doesn't stay home to care for her children and the house, it creates a cycle of frustration for her depressed husband," Linder argued.

Coed Garnet Horman countered, "Wives should be companions and not cooks and baby machines... Conversation is necessary in marriage."

Her partner, Betty Hagerty, backed her up: "Why does a man leave home? Is it because his wife is too shallow?"

Miss Hagerty ended the negative case with a call for a "double standard"—wives both "on a pedestal" and independent.

Robert Rouch, Linder's partner, rebutted, "Women destroy... the institution when they engage in outside activities. Whether jobs or club work, the children and husband are deprived." Rouch contended that if women weren't working, their jobs could be filled by the hard-core unemployed.

The compromise conclusion on the worth of women, by voice vote:

"Women should be pregnant when they want, barefoot when they desire and in the bedroom when they choose, rather than in the kitchen."

Papal Curiosity
NEW YORK (AP) — "I am made for hearing what I should not know," Pope Paul VI is quoted in "The Pope Speaks," a series of dialogues with French philosopher Jean Guilton, published by Meredith Press. The Pope adds, "The things unsaid around a Pope are those important for him to know."

Sugar beets were grown as a garden vegetable and for fodder before they were used for sugar.

Strategy

It's Tim's move, and he is taking a long time thinking it over. In chess, if you're a good player, you don't play quickly. If you do, your opponent may outwit you.

Military strategy, they say, is based on the rules of chess. So are many of the "higher games" in business and finance. Yet, when it comes to life itself, the rules of chess apply in only a limited way. In life, you can't be totally objective. You can't exist on logic alone.

The Church teaches that though we surely need logic in order to live successfully, we also need compassion, tolerance, love, understanding, and the strength that comes with faith.

Woman's Place In World Hotly Debated At College

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) — "Should women be kept barefoot, pregnant and in the kitchen?" Robert Rouch, Linder's partner, rebutted, "Women destroy... the institution when they engage in outside activities. Whether jobs or club work, the children and husband are deprived." Rouch contended that if women weren't working, their jobs could be filled by the hard-core unemployed.

The compromise conclusion on the worth of women, by voice vote: "Women should be pregnant when they want, barefoot when they desire and in the bedroom when they choose, rather than in the kitchen."

The middle aisle of Hamilton's Science Auditorium served as the dividing line for about 250 students serving as judges, with Hamilton's men outnumbering Kirkland's women by about 7-5. The hour-long debate progressed amidst boos, cheers, hisses and applause.

Robert Linder, arguing the affirmative, said women were created second and should stay second. "When a woman doesn't stay home to care for her children and the house, it creates a cycle of frustration for her depressed husband," Linder argued.

Coed Garnet Horsman countered, "Wives should be companions and not cooks and baby machines... Conversation is necessary in marriage."

Her partner, Betty Hagerty, backed her up: "Why does a man leave home? Is it because his wife is too shallow?" Miss Hagerty ended the negative case with a call for a "double standard"—wives both "on a pedestal" and independent.

NEW YORK (AP) — "I am made for hearing what I should not know," Pope Paul VI is quoted in "The Pope Speaks," a series of dialogues with French philosopher Jean Guittou, published by Meredith Press. The Pope adds, "The things unsaid around a Pope are those important for him to know."

Sugar beets were grown as a garden vegetable and for fodder before they were used for sugar.

Strategy

It's Tim's move, and he is taking a long time thinking it over. In chess, if you're a good player, you don't play quickly. If you do, your opponent may outwit you.

Military strategy, they say, is based on the rules of chess. So are many of the "higher games" in business and finance. Yet, when it comes to life itself, the rules of chess apply in only a limited way. In life, you can't be totally objective. You can't exist on logic alone.

The Church teaches that though we surely need logic in order to live successfully, we also need compassion, tolerance, love, understanding, and the strength that comes with faith.

Although life is not a game, we must have the help and strength of the Church to discover those rules that will determine our ultimate destiny.

Mild Weather And Clear Skies Prevail In U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Indian summer mildness in the midcontinent and a freezing chill in the Northeast and parts of the West ushered in November today.

Clear skies were abundant and precipitation was virtually absent.

Temperatures more like early September—ranging from the 50s through the 70s—were common over the Plains and Midwest before dawn. Much of the region was fanned by southerly breezes and highs in the 70s and 80s through Thursday.

Chicago, with an early morning temperature of 66, was 27 degrees above its normal low of 39 for Nov. 1.

Cleveland's Police Shifts Continue

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland police captain who refused to cooperate with a City Hall investigation of the July 23 Glenville disturbances has resigned from the force after being demoted by new Police Chief Patrick Gerty.

Capt. George A. Sperber, head of the department's Criminal Investigation Unit, was demoted to uniform duty Thursday.

He was among 104 officers and patrolmen shifted around by Gerty.

Sperber refused to turn over certain records in the Glenville investigation. Instead, he gave the data to Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John Corrigan.

The July 23 disturbances left 10 persons dead, including three policemen.

Former Chief Michael J. Blackwell, who refused to resign when Mayor Carl B. Stokes replaced him, will command the police academy, arms unit and community relations.

Use Paper Ballots In Cleveland Vote

'Policeman' Actor True To Role, Catches Thieves

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Kent McCord was off on a trip last spring when burglars took two stereo units and some of his clothes.

In his free time McCord, 26, began looking for his clothes along Sunset Boulevard. He spotted a velvet shirt like his about a month later and, in talking with the boy wearing it, was told, "I'm taking care of it for my friend, serving time for burglary."

The actor said he went to an apartment and found one of his stereos. Monday the youth who lived there was convicted of receiving stolen property, and another awaits trial.

McCord plays a policeman in the television series "Adam-12."

Mr. Voter!

Since my opponent speaks of his accomplishments it is high time he explains to the citizens of Pickaway County...

Why he co-sponsored a bill under DiSalle to reduce State Aid to Schools by 15.4%, taxpayers had to raise millions to replace?

Why he voted against the Porterfield bill that has brought nearly $3 million to Pickaway Co. for Twp. roads and Village streets?

Why he voted against the Golden Age Village?

Why he passed his vote on a bill that increased pay and death benefits for working men temporarily disabled?

Why he voted against a bill providing for proper disposal of trash and garbage.

I challenge my opponent to prove the above could be accomplishments.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Does He Prefer To Sleep In Basement?

DEAR ABBY: I can't understand my brother. He and I were brought up in the same house with the same mother and father, but we are as different as night and day. Dad drank a little, and he and Mom did their share of fighting, but I can't say we had a "bad" home life.

My brother is married to a woman who treats him like a dog. They don't even live like man and wife. He sleeps in the BASEMENT and she sleeps upstairs. She keeps putting him down and he doesn't even try to defend himself. What on earth is the matter with that poor excuse for a man?

ROCHESTER
DEAR ROCHESTER: If your brother sleeps in the basement without a murmur, maybe he likes it. Or maybe he doesn't care where he sleeps as long as it's not with his wife.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman who has a 13-year-old daughter, and then goes ahead and has another baby? Don't you think a 35-year-old woman is a little too old to be having a baby?

When I come home from school I have a lot of things to do, including homework, so I don't see why I have to give up my time to watch a baby.

I can see where this baby-sitting bit is going to get worse in time, because I know my mother, and she is not about to hire a baby-sitter when she can get me to sit for nothing.

Is there anything I can do about this?

STUCK
(P.S.) How old does a girl have to be in the state of Connecticut before she can leave home?

DEAR STUCK: To answer your first question. A woman who is young enough to bear a child is not "too old" to have one. As for your second question: A girl who doesn't know how old she has to be to "leave home" is too young to try it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a diabetic for years. Lately it was discovered that I also have high blood pressure. My doctor put me on a salt-free diet and now there are many things I am not allowed to eat.

When my wife and I are invited to the home of a friend, would I be out of line to tell the hostess about my restricted diet? My wife says if she has to put a hostess to any extra work she would rather stay home.

MANNY
DEAR MANNY: I see nothing wrong in mentioning this to your hostess in advance. If she really wants your company she would not consider it an imposition

Vietnam Issue Secondary In Utah; Liquor Comes 1st

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — As far as some voters hereabouts are concerned, Vietnam is a secondary issue in next Tuesday's election. The big one is

Youth Grange Meeting Slated

The Pickaway County Grange Youth will hold their November business meeting at the home of the newly elected president, Keith Lands, on Monday 7:30 p.m.

Chaplain Debbie Archer will be in charge of the devotions and Barbara McKenzie will provide the recreation which will center around the theme of Halloween.

This Saturday the youth installation team will travel to Logan, where they will install the officers of the Hocking County Granges. The installation will be held at the Antioch Grange Hall, and will begin at 8 p.m.

whether Utah should legalize the sale of hard liquor by the drink.

A proposal to this effect, which will be on the ballot, has brought boosters of the tourist trade into a direct confrontation with the Mormon Church. At the moment, the Church seems likely to prevail over commerce.

Under present law, only 3.2 beer may be sold by the drink. Strong spirits can be bought legally only by the bottle, at state liquor stores. It may then legally be consumed at home, in restaurants which provide setups, or in private clubs whose patrons are supposed to drink only what they bring with them.

A businessmen's group, contending that the law keeps tourists away in droves, circulated petitions for a referendum on change.

Devout Mormons do not use alcohol, or even coffee and tea. About two-thirds of Utah's 800,000 people are Mormons, and the Church came down hard on the proposal to ease the rules on booze.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said Thursday that Army Spec. 4 Richard A. Sablotny of Bedford Heights, Ohio, has been killed in action in Vietnam.

Ohio To Receive Less Road Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will receive $225.9 million in federal highway construction funds for the 1970 fiscal year, the Department of Transportation announced Thursday.

That's a drop of $44.7 million from the $270.6 million received for the current fiscal year.

Or, as state highway department officials put it, the reduced allocation means Ohio, will be shorted "about 45 miles" of roadway in fiscal 1970. Officials figure that road construction costs average about $1 million a mile.

Of the $225.9 million allocated, $168.6 million will go for interstate highways.

5 Incumbents Are Without Competition

The Circleville Herald, Fri. Nov. 1, 1968

Circleville, Ohio

2 Townships Seek Levies

Two townships will be seeking approval of tax levies at the Nov. 5, election for road construction and repair.

Perry Twp. will be seeking renewal of its tax levy and Saltcreek trustees will be requesting a new levy.

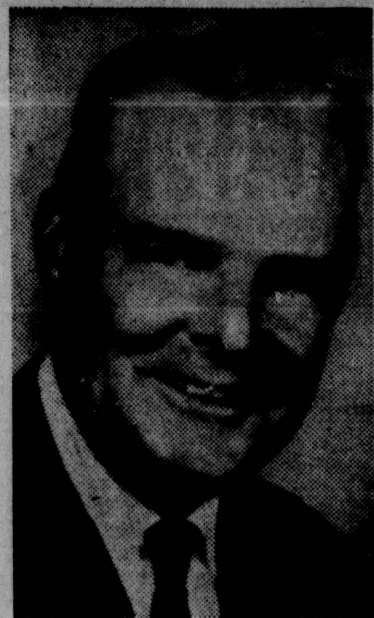

The renewal of the Perry Twp. levy will cost residents three mills for every dollar of property valuation. The levy is for a five-year period.

The new Saltcreek levy is for one additional mill of taxation for every dollar of property valuation. The tax will be for five years beginning with 1968.

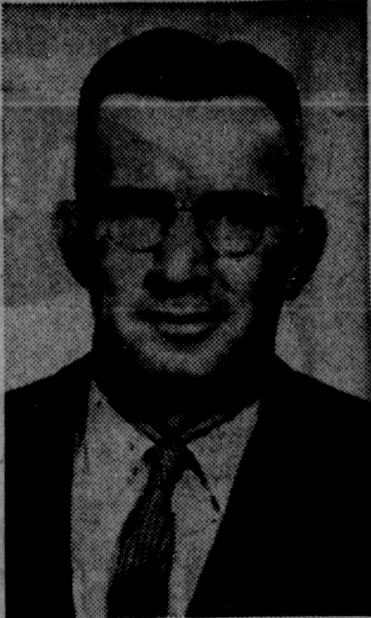

The Saltcreek tax levy will not result in increased taxes to area residents due to the expiration of a one-mill tax for fire equipment.

Carpeting Stolen From Building Site

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP)—The Wright Construction Co. of Cleveland, contractor on a $750,000 apartment complex at Central State University here, reported to the Greene County sheriff's office Thursday night the theft of 400 yards of carpet and heating and light fixtures. The Wright Co. estimated the loss at $1,250.

EVERETT BEERS

CHARLES MORRIS JR.

DICK T. TOOTLE

Four men are seeking voter approval to run the multi-million dollar a year business and government that is Pickaway County. Only two men can be elected.

At least one new face among the three county commissioners was guaranteed in May when county voters rejected Lloyd Melvin's bid for a third term county commissioner.

The commissioners, who are the highest legislative and executive authority of the county, are elected for staggered terms. Two commissioners will be elected this fall while the post of the third commissioner, presently occupied by Wayne Hines, will not be open until 1970.

Seeking the post of county commissioner in the Nov. 5, race will be Democrats Charles Morris Jr., an incumbent, and Dick Tootle. Republicans seeking election are Everett Beers and Winfield Koch.

MORRIS, Dem., a lifelong resident of Pickaway County, was born in Walnut Twp.

The incumbent commissioner was graduated from Saltcreek Twp. High School and attended Ohio State University.

2 County Commissioners To Be Elected Tuesday

EVERETT BEERS

Four men are seeking voter approval to run the multi-million dollar a year business and government that is Pickaway County. Only two men can be elected.

At least one new face among the three county commissioners was guaranteed in May when county voters rejected Lloyd Melvin's bid for a third term county commissioner.

The commissioners, who are the highest legislative and executive authority of the county, are elected for staggered terms. Two commissioners will be elected this fall while the post of the third commissioner, presently occupied by Wayne Hines, will not be open until 1970.

Seeking the post of county commissioner in the Nov. 5, race will be Democrats Charles Morris Jr., an incumbent, and Dick Tootle. Republicans seeking election are Everett Beers and Winfield Koch.

MORRIS, Dem., a lifelong resident of Pickaway County, was born in Walnut Twp. The incumbent commissioner was graduated from Saltcreek Twp. High School and attended Ohio State University.

Technician Said Behind TV Stag Film

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The man who gave this desert resort area nude show via home television says he was confident at the time that he was the only viewer of the racy film.

Robert Allen Veatch, 25, of San Bernardino, was arrested Wednesday by police who quoted him as saying the showing was accidental and that he was "solely responsible."

The stag film was carried throughout the Coachella Valley early Sunday morning by cable television. Viewers tuned in after regular telecasting and saw nude men and women cavorting across their screens.

Station KPLM-TV's program director, Mike Rollins, told Police Chief Robert B. White that, to the best of his knowledge, Veatch, a control technician at the station, was looking at the film alone in the studio after hours.

Veatch believed, said Rollins that he had cut off all cable transmission and had switched the file to a single TV set. Instead, it was seen in the communities of Palm Springs, Palm Desert, Rancho Mirage and Indian Wells.

White said Veatch soon realized what had happened and quickly destroyed the videotape. The tape, White said, was Veatch's personal property. He said Veatch has been a part of the staff about two months.

Veatch was booked on suspicion of broadcasting obscene matter. The police chief said final disposition of the case awaits a study to determine whether it falls under local or federal jurisdiction.

In France in 1800, Robert Fulton built a submarine he called the Nautilus in an attempt to help France destroy the British Fleet.

Three County Schools Need Operating Levies Renewed

By GEORGE McDOWELL
County Superintendent of Schools
The voters of all the local school districts in Pickaway County should know that it is absolutely necessary that the renewal levies for the schools of the county be given a favorable vote and passed.

All local school districts under the present Senate Bill 350, passed by the last session of the legislature, are required to maintain a 17.5 mill levy for school operating purposes. If the voters fail to pass the renewals each local district will lose its State Foundation Program monies.

The last figures for these funds are: Logan Elm, $141,378.50; Teays Valley, $299,457.00; Westfall, $196,927.84. Present State Foundation figures show tax valuations for each local district are: Logan Elm, $29,495,944; Teays Valley, $42,641,281; Westfall, $27,805,149.

IN brief, if the failure of any renewal levy drops the millage rate for any local school district below 17.5 mills, under present legislation that school district stands to lose all its state support and as a result the schools could not continue to operate for a complete school year.

The voters should know also that under this same Senate Bill 350 each of our local school districts are receiving supplemental salary subsidy payments for teachers salaries since Sept. 1, 1967. These payments represent the difference in the salaries required to be paid all teachers by Senate Bill 350 and the salary schedule payments made to district teachers under salary schedules paid prior to Sept. 1, 1967.

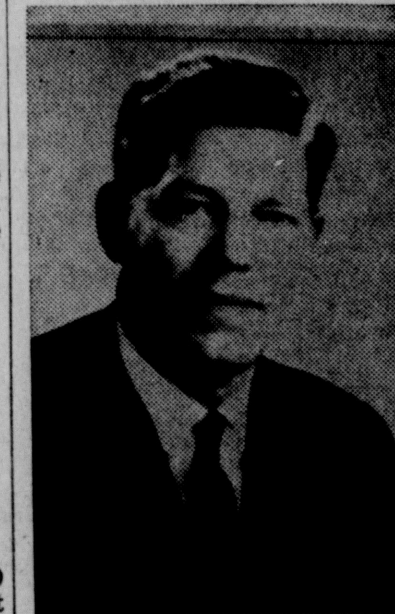

Under Senate Bill 350 these salary subsidy payments from the state expire, or stop, Dec. 31, unless the General Assembly of Ohio renews them by passing new legislation. Local boards of education may after Jan. 1, 1969 be required to find additional funds to pick up these payments which expire. The salary subsidy funds which each local district will lose are:

Logan Elm, $28,550.88; Teays Valley, $43,306.92; Westfall, $40,205.88.

This could mean a total loss to county schools of $112,063.68. If the General Assembly does not pass legislation to continue these amounts to each local district, then each local board will need to ask the voters to pass additional new levies to raise these amounts.

The Logan Elm Board of Education is asking for a four mill renewal levy, the Westfall Board of Education a three and one-half mill renewal levy at the General Election, November 5. The Teays Valley Board of Education is seeking a 16 mill renewal levy which combines a

Doyle Miller 4th Runnerup In Contest

Once again Pickaway County Pomona Grange has received recognition in the state youth work when Doyle Miller received fourth runner-up in the state Prince Contest finals.

Miller was named Monday at the end of the pageant held at the Ohio State Grange convention in Dayton. The state prince named at this time was Earl Kerr, of Wayne County, who scored highest on the written test given to all candidates for the state title.

Miller is a member of Salt-creek Valley Grange, and is active in the county youth organization. He has received all seven degrees of the order and last year attended the national convention in Syracuse, New York. Along with attending youth camps he has been a district winner in the youth talent contests of the Grange.

Also participating in the pageant from this county were: Debbie Archer, of Nebraska Grange, who was a candidate for the princess; and Paul Dunkle, who served as the pianist for the youth activities.

Technician Said Behind TV Stag Film

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The man who gave this desert resort area nudie show via home television says he was confident at the time that he was the only viewer of the racy film.

Robert Allen Veatch, 25, of San Bernardino, was arrested Wednesday by police who quoted him as saying the showing was accidental and that he was "solely responsible."

The stag film was carried throughout the Coachella Valley early Sunday morning by cable television. Viewers tuned in after regular telecasting and saw nude men and women cavorting across their screens.

Station KPLM-TV's program director, Mike Rollins, told Police Chief Robert B. White that, to the best of his knowledge, Veatch, a control technician at the station, was looking at the film alone in the studio after hours.

Veatch believed, said Rollins that he had cut off all cable transmission and had switched the file to a single TV set.

Instead, it was seen in the communities of Palm Springs, Palm Desert, Rancho Mirage and Indian Wells.

White said Veatch soon realized what had happened and quickly destroyed the videotape. The tape, White said, was Veatch's personal property. He said Veatch has been a part of the staff about two months.

Veatch was booked on suspicion of broadcasting obscene matter.

The police chief said final disposition of the case awaits a study to determine whether it falls under local or federal jurisdiction.

Three County Schools Need Operating Levies Renewed

By GEORGE McDOWELL
County Superintendent of Schools
The voters of all the local school districts in Pickaway County should know that it is absolutely necessary that the renewal levies for the schools of the county be given a favorable vote and passed.

All local school districts under the present Senate Bill 350, passed by the last session of the legislature, are required to maintain a 17.5 mill levy for school operating purposes. If the voters fail to pass the renewals each local district will lose its State Foundation Program monies.

The last figures for these funds are: Logan Elm, $141,378.50; Teays Valley, $299,457.00; Westfall, $196,927.84. Present State Foundation figures show tax valuations for each local district are: Logan Elm, $29,495,944; Teays Valley, $42,641,281; Westfall, $27,805,149.

IN brief, if the failure of any renewal levy drops the millage rate for any local school district below 17.5 mills, under present legislation that school district stands to lose all its state support and as a result the schools could not continue to operate for a complete school year.

The voters should know also that under this same Senate Bill 350 each of our local school districts are receiving supplemental salary payments for teachers salaries since Sept. 1, 1967. These payments represent the difference in the salaries required to be paid all teachers by Senate Bill 350 and the salary schedule payments made to district teachers under salary schedules paid prior to Sept. 1, 1967.

Under Senate Bill 350 these salary subsidy payments from the state expire, or stop, Dec. 31, unless the General Assembly of Ohio renews them by passing new legislation. Local boards of education may after Jan. 1, 1969 be required to find additional funds to pick up these payments which expire. The salary subsidy funds which each local district will lose are:

Logan Elm, $28,550.88; Teays Valley, $43,306.92; Westfall, $40,205.88.

This could mean a total loss to county schools of $112,063.68. If the General Assembly does not pass legislation to continue these amounts to each local district, then each local board will need to ask the voters to raise these amounts.

The Logan Elm Board of Education is asking for a four mill renewal levy, the Westfall Board of Education a three and one-half mill renewal levy at the General Election, November 5. The Teays Valley Board of Education is seeking a 16 mill renewal levy which combines a

What did she do before she went on stage? "I practiced my routine twice, did exercises and took a deep breath before I started." She felt she did all right, but could have done better. When her name was called for one of the ten finalists, Connie's remark was, "I was never so shocked in my life." Although she didn't make the top four, Connie did an excellent job with a grade of 89 in the evening.

Tomlinson To Represent CHS Council

By JIM BALLOU
Joe Tomlinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tomlinson Jr., 627 S. Court St., was recently selected as the Pickaway County representative to the Ohio Association of Student Councils.

JOE TOMLINSON

Joe's role as representative is to correspond with other student councils around Pickaway County. Joe was notified of his position by the Ohio Association of Student Councils.

Joe commented when asked about his selection, "I was pleased and honored to be chosen. My first duty is to make sure all OASC dues are paid, which I am now in the process of doing. I want to make student council great."

Be Sure To Vote; It Is A Privilege

By DEBBIE HEISKELL
Who decides which man or group shall be in office and which out? Who takes part in elections? Every American adult citizen has the right to vote.

The life of every American citizen regardless of social position, income, religion, race or sex is deeply affected by the actions of his government. It is a great privilege to be able to have a voice in determining government policies directly or in choosing those who make the laws.

A person may think that his one vote will not count but his vote is just as important as the next one's. If a person abuses the right to vote, he may put a mah in his government by the minority vote of the people. Let us all realize that the great importance of everyone's vote!

Council and band. She likes swimming and Fridays. When asked her opinion of the band this year, her comment was, "Band is really great and I think more students should join."

Marsha McFadden, a senior majorette, also was a finalist in the afternoon competition. Marsha made up her routine in approximately one week and practiced for three weeks. Before going on stage to do her two-and-a-half minute routine, she commented that she went over her routine in her head so she would not forget anything.

MARSHA MCFADDEN

When she went off the stage after her part she figured she did pretty well. Her reaction to making the top ten was, "I was really surprised and pleased."

Marsha likes riding the band bus and having a good time with friends. Her main dislike is people that will not give people a second chance and are not willing to listen. Her opinion of band is "Band is Great! With Mr. O'Neil as director, it is really a pleasure to be in band. I am only sorry that this is my last year."

What was Mr. O'Neil's opinion? "I had no doubts that he'd did their very best."

Tips Offered For Job Applications

By JOE TOMLINSON

To the students of CHS we dedicate this series of articles which concern student employment.

This is a time in your lives when a job means independence and gives you the opportunity to prove yourself. You may be a highly qualified worker yet you might fail to obtain a job because you make a poor presentation of yourself. We hope, through these articles to offer you a greater opportunity to obtain employment.

Here are a few of the tips for a successful interview. Remember to apply them at all job interviews.

Always arrive slightly before the appointed time.

Always dress properly. Avoid loud or flashy clothes. A girl should refrain from extreme hairdos, makeup, or colors in clothes, lipstick or fingernails. She should wear a hat and carry clean gloves and a purse. She should avoid fussy jewelry.

A boy's haircut should be neat and recent and he should be clean-shaven. Neatness and cleanliness cannot be overstressed — and this includes teeth, hair, and fingernails, as well as every item of clothing. Campaign buttons or conspicuous jewelry should be avoided.

Try to relax, but don't overdo it. Do not smoke during an interview even if the employer offers it to you.

When filling out a job application blank, answer all pertinent questions briefly yet completely.

Use good references. Most employers will contact them. Be yourself at all times.

MR. JOHN BEATTY
By JACKIE ULLMAN

That amiable blonde bachelor who is the head of the Special Education Department at CHS is Mr. John C. Beatty.

He received his bachelor of arts degree in history at Ohio State University. Since he resides at 356 E. 20th Ave. in Columbus, he commutes to our school daily.

Mr. Beatty has found CHS students very nice, friendly and considerate. When asked his opinion of our school, he replied, "Circleville High School has a well-planned curriculum and advanced programs which I was never fortunate enough to have the opportunity to participate in when I was in high school."

Mr. Beatty feels quite strongly that "To be able to make the student understand is more important than having him memorize." This is the philosophy of teaching which he seems to follow.

Edstrom Races At Drag Strip

By JOE TOMLINSON

Steve Edstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wes Edstrom Jr. six Yorkshire Court, Knollwood Village, represented CHS at National Trail Raceways Oct. 20.

Steve has grown up around cars and knows quite a bit about them. He owns a 1964 dark blue Dodge Dart GT with a 273 cubic inch engine along with a two barrel carburetor and a four-speed Hearst transmission. He plans to get a new Dart swinger in the near future.

He ran twice on Oct. 20, winning the first race and losing the second one, the trophy run. His Dart overcame a 327 cubic inch yellow Camero with a winning speed of 74.89 miles per hour and an elapse time of 19.10. Both drivers missed second gears in that race.

The trophy run was won by a 260 cubic inch Sunbeam Tiger equipped with a modified Jaguar rear end. It had G-70 Goodyear tires on the rear. Steve's Dart turned 82 miles per hour along with the Sunbeam, but his elapse time was one hundredth of a second slower than the Tiger's with 17.01. In both runs Steve's car's class was Pure Stock.

About drag racing, Steve commented: "It shows what your car can and cannot do. Drag racing under supervision provides a good outlet instead of racing in the streets."

He dislikes guys who drag on the streets and not the strip. He added that a person's car is not half as bad on the strip as it would be on the street.

In the future Steve plans to work at his grandfather's and dad's business, Wes Edstrom Motors. He will further his automotive training at a good trade school after graduation from high school.

Halloween Is Holy Day Of All Saints

By WESLEY JONES

This religious day of feasting is recognized by all Roman Catholic churches and churches in communion with the Church of England on the first Sunday following Whitsunday. It is observed November first also by the Greek Catholic Church, or on the first Sunday following Pentecost.

All Saints' Day is set aside to honor all Catholic saints and martyrs, and was officially established when Pope Gregory III dedicated a chapel to all Catholic saints. In 834 AD it was extended to Pope Gregory VI to all Catholic churches throughout Europe.

For a time this feast was kept by the Protestant churches during the Reformation, but soon fell into disuse. In Medieval England, young and old would collect food from neighbors for the feast the following day — this was known as all Hallowseve, or as we know it today, Halloween.

Coach Sowder Makes Changes

Since the start of basketball practice on Nov. 1, Coach Gerald Sowder is looking forward to the 1968-69 basketball season with cautious optimism.

As a new coach, Mr. Sowder is trying to change as much as possible. The team will have a change of uniform, a different angle to practice and a new outlook on the season.

Good experience is going to aid in Mr. Sowder's wish for at least an even .500. He expects his team to run a lot because they lack the needed height. With a possible three juniors starting, the team will be preparing for a two year stretch.

By Christmas Coach Sowders will have a good indication of what to expect from the team. The school is looking to the 1968-69 basketball season with the attitude of a winner.

Connie spent about one week making up her routine and practiced it at least one hour a day. She knew the time was well spent when she made the top ten in the afternoon competition with a grade of 84.2.

What did she do before she went on stage? "I practiced my routine twice, did exercises and took a deep breath before I started." She felt she did all right, but could have done better. When her name was called for one of the ten finalists, Connie's remark was, "I was never so shocked in my life." Although she didn't make the top four, Connie did an excellent job with a grade of 89 in the evening.

Tomlinson To Represent CHS Council

By JIM BALLOU

Joe Tomlinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tomlinson Jr., 627 S. Court St., was recently selected as the Pickaway County representative to the Ohio Association of Student Councils.

JOE TOMLINSON

Joe's role as representative is to correspond with other student councils around Pickaway County. Joe was notified of his position by the Ohio Association of Student Councils.

Joe commented when asked about his selection, "I was pleased and honored to be chosen. My first duty is to make sure all OASC dues are paid, which I am now in the process of doing. I want to make student council great."

Be Sure To Vote; It Is A Privilege

By DEBBIE HEISKELL

Who decides which man or group shall be in office and which out? Who takes part in elections? Every American adult citizen has the right to vote.

The life of every American citizen regardless of social position, income, religion, race or sex is deeply affected by the actions of his government. It is a great privilege to be able to have a voice in determining government policies directly or in choosing those who make the laws.

A person may think that his one vote will not count but his vote is just as important as the next one's. If a person abuses the right to vote, he may put a man in his government by the minority vote of the people. Let us all realize that the great importance of everyone's vote!

Council and band. She likes swimming and Fridays. When asked her opinion of the band this year, her comment was, "Band is really great and I think more students should join."

Marsha McFadden, a senior majorette, also was a finalist in the afternoon competition. Marsha made up her routine in approximately one week and practiced for three weeks. Before going on stage to do her two-and-a-half minute routine, she commented that she went over her routine in her head so she would not forget anything.

MARSHA MCFADDEN

When she went off the stage after her part she figured she did pretty well. Her reaction to making the top ten was, "I was really surprised and pleased."

Marsha likes riding the band bus and having a good time with friends. Her main dislike is people that will not give people a second chance and are not willing to listen. Her opinion of band is "Band is Great! With Mr. O'Neil as director, it is really a pleasure to be in band. I am only sorry that this is my last year."

What was Mr. O'Neil's opinion? "I had no doubts that he did their very best."

Tips Offered For Job Applications

By JOE TOMLINSON

To the students of CHS we dedicate this series of articles which concern student employment.

This is a time in your lives when a job means independence and gives you the opportunity to prove yourself. You may be a highly qualified worker yet you might fail to obtain a job because you make a poor presentation of yourself. We hope, through these articles to offer you a greater opportunity to obtain employment.

Here are a few of the tips for a successful interview. Remember to apply them at all job interviews.

Always arrive slightly before the appointed time.

Always dress properly. Avoid loud or flashy clothes. A girl should refrain from extreme hairdos, makeup, or colors in clothes, lipstick or fingernails. She should wear a hat and carry clean gloves and a purse. She should avoid fussy jewelry.

A boy's haircut should be neat and recent and he should be clean-shaven. Neatness and cleanliness cannot be overstressed — and this includes teeth, hair, and fingernails, as well as every item of clothing. Campaign buttons or conspicuous jewelry should be avoided.

Try to relax, but don't overdo it.

Do not smoke during an interview even if the employer offers it to you.

When filling out a job application blank, answer all pertinent questions briefly yet completely.

Use good references. Most employers will contact them. Be yourself at all times.

Tiger Teacher

MR. JOHN BEATTY

By JACKIE ULLMAN

That amiable blonde bachelor who is the head of the Special Education Department at CHS is Mr. John C. Beatty.

He received his bachelor of arts degree in history at Ohio State University. Since he resides at 356 E. 20th Ave. in Columbus, he commutes to our school daily.

Mr. Beatty has found CHS students very nice, friendly and considerate. When asked his opinion of our school, he replied, "Circleville High School has a well-planned curriculum and advanced programs which I was never fortunate enough to have the opportunity to participate in when I was in high school."

Mr. Beatty feels quite strongly that "To be able to make the student understand is more important than having him memorize." This is the philosophy of teaching which he seems to follow.

Student Of the Week

BARB RHIENSCHELD

By CHRIS MACKENZIE

Barb Rhienscheld, formerly of Winchester, Ind., is a 16-year old junior enrolled in the college prep course. She lives with her aunt, Rosalie Rhienscheld, at 842 Pershing Drive.

At her former high school she participated in the band and girls' intramurals. When asked if she liked CHS, Barbara replied, "I think CHS is a fine school with a real nice faculty, but I miss my old school."

She found moving to a new town difficult, saying, "I did not meet anyone all summer and I was nervous coming into a new school, not having any friends, but during the first few weeks I met many girls and I like them very much."

Barbara attends the Calvary United Methodist Church. In her spare time she enjoys horseback riding, drawing and writing poetry. She has had one of her poems published in the American Girl Magazine.

After graduation she would like to attend Ohio University and become a social worker.

Coach Sowder Makes Changes

Since the start of basketball practice on Nov. 1, Coach Gerald Sowder is looking forward to the 1968-69 basketball season with cautious optimism.

As a new coach, Mr. Sowder is trying to change as much as possible. The team will have a change of uniform, a different angle to practice and a new outlook on the season.

Good experience is going to aid in Mr. Sowder's wish for at least an even .500. He expects his team to run a lot because they lack the needed height. With a possible three juniors starting, the team will be preparing for a two year stretch.

By Christmas Coach Sowders will have a good indication of what to expect from the team. The school is looking to the 1968-69 basketball season with the attitude of a winner.

How many spent last week "grounded" because of grades?

Has everyone seen Eddie's new good luck charm?

Good luck to all the majorettes in the competition at Glouster.

'Lilies Of The Field' Starts To Take Shape

By HOLLY BACH

The Junior Class play "Lilies of the Field" is shaping up with practices running relatively smoothly and with a feeling of over all co-operation and organization.

The committees are now in the process of rounding up the necessary materials. The props committee needs a large family Bible, some rosaries and crucifixes, a Spanish menu and newspaper, and a talented person who can do a good coyote call.

The Dominican College of Columbus has loaned the juniors habits. They are white robes and black veils. Also, sister Marie Louise of St. Joseph's Convent here in Circleville is helping the girls who are to portray nuns, with characterization.

Anyone wishing to help the members of the cast develop Spanish or German accents is asked to contact Mrs. Wiggins or Debbie Lowe.

Edstrom Races At Drag Strip

By JOE TOMLINSON

Steve Edstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wes Edstrom Jr. six Yorkshire Court, Knollwood Village, represented CHS at National Trail Raceways Oct. 20.

Steve has grown up around cars and knows quite a bit about them. He owns a 1964 dark blue Dodge Dart GT with a 273 cubic inch engine along with a two barrel carburetor and a four-speed Hestart transmission. He plans to get a new Dart swinger in the near future.

He ran twice on Oct. 20, winning the first race and losing the second one, the trophy run. His Dart overcame a 327 cubic inch yellow Camero with a winning speed of 74.89 miles per hour and an elapse time of 19.10. Both drivers missed second gears in that race.

The trophy run was won by a 260 cubic inch Sunbeam Tiger equipped with a modified Jaguar rear end. It had G-70 Goodyear tires on the rear. Steve's Dart turned 82 miles per hour along with the Sunbeam, but his elapse time was one hundredth of a second slower than the Tiger's with 17.01. In both runs Steve's car's class was Pure Stock.

About drag racing, Steve commented: "It shows what your car can and cannot do. Drag racing under supervision provides a good outlet instead of racing in the streets."

He dislikes guys who drag on the streets and not the strip. He added that a person's car is not half as bad on the strip as it would be on the street.

In the future Steve plans to work at his grandfather's and dad's business, Wes Edstrom Motors. He will further his automotive training at a good trade school after graduation from high school.

Halloween Is Holy Day Of All Saints

By WESLEY JONES

This religious day of feasting is recognized by all Roman Catholic churches and churches in communion with the Church of England on the first Sunday following Whitsunday. It is observed November first also by the Greek Catholic Church, or on the first Sunday following Pentecost.

All Saints' Day is set aside to honor all Catholic saints and martyrs, and was officially established when Pope Gregory III dedicated a chapel to all Catholic saints. In 834 AD it was extended to Pope Gregory VI to all Catholic churches throughout Europe.

For a time this feast was kept by the Protestant churches during the Reformation, but soon fell into disuse. In Medieval England, young and old would collect food from neighbors for the feast the following day — this was known as all Halloweese, or as we know it today, Halloween.

Musical Notes

By RUTH ANN RIHL

Those assorted characters marching and playing instruments in last night's Halloween Parade were really the members of the CHS band!

At tonight's football game, the band will form an hourglass for senior members of the band to walk through. The 18 seniors in the CHS marching band include: Bill Adkins, Mike Ayers, Marion Brehmer, Gale Wolfe, Nancy Benzenberg, Karen Davis, Susan McGuire, Beverly Thompson, Ruth Ann Rihl, Patty Glitt, Dave Leist, Valerie hi Plata Gyllitt, Dave Leist, Vale Valentine, Linda Cook, Kathy Fuller, Richard Henn, Dan Crabtree, Marsha McFadden and Darrel Goodman.

The CHS majorettes will be participating in competition being held at Glouster on Nov. 3.

Steve Eberly has joined the choir bringing the number of boys in the group to ten. Triple Trio will perform for Rotary Club on Nov. 7.

MSU Seeks Upset Against Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Rugby Michigan State shoots for its second straight upset Saturday when the Spartans challenge second-ranked Ohio State in a Big Ten headliner.

Coach Duffy Daugherty's club stunned powerful Notre Dame 21-17 last week while unbeaten Ohio was having its closest call of the season in a 31-24 victory over winless Illinois.

Ernie Green Won't Start For Browns

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Browns fullback Ernie Green, who missed the first five games because of a knee injury, is not expected to start against the San Francisco 49ers Sunday.

Green's return to duty Oct. 20 was credited with sparking the Browns to an upset victory over the Baltimore Colts.

He hurt the knee again last Sunday in the victory over the Atlanta Falcons but was running again on Tuesday and appeared to be recovered.

Then on Wednesday he reinjured the knee when he fell while blocking during practice. Green missed Thursday's practice and is not expected to be ready Sunday in San Francisco.

If Green doesn't play, Charley Leigh probably will start at fullback, Leigh, a rookie, has been hampered by a sprained ankle and pulled tendon for several weeks but appeared to be running well this week.

Defensive end Bill Glass, who was taken out of the Atlanta game because of tender ribs, will be back.

Glass noted that the 49ers should have plenty of information on the Browns. In addition to former Cleveland receiver Cliff McNeill, the 49ers have two Browns on their coaching staff—Paul Wiggin and Jim Shofner.

Glass called Wiggin and Shofner "two of the most intelligent players we have had with the Browns."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State bids to retain its first place position in the Big Ten and Ohio University shoots for at least a tie for the Mid-American Conference championship Saturday.

The Buckeyes, 5-0 on the season and tied with Michigan for the conference lead on a 3-0 mark, battle rugged Michigan State at Ohio Stadium.

The Spartans are fresh from an upset victory over Notre Dame while Ohio escaped with a narrow 31-24 triumph over Illinois last week.

Ohio U., 6-0 overall and 4-0 in the MAC, journeys to Kalamazoo for a joust with Western Michigan. A victory would seal the Tangerine Bowl trip for the 19th ranked Bobcats and give Coach Bill Hess his fourth title in 11 seasons.

There are other headliners on the Ohio collegiate grid program. Miami (5-2) visits Toledo (5-1-1); Bowling Green (4-1-1) entertains Marshall; Cincinnati (3-2-1) travels to North Texas State; Kent State (0-7) plays at Louisville; Dayton (3-3) collides with archrival Xavier (3-3) in Cincinnati under the lights and Ohio Wesleyan (5-0) invades Baldwin-Wallace (6-0) in a game that could decide the Ohio Conference championship.

Toledo's 24-14 victory over Miami last year was its first over the Redskins since 1937. The duel matches Miami's rugged defense against the Rockers' high-scoring offense with the winner clinging to some hope for a MAC title should Ohio U. stumble.

Bowling Green, also nursing fading championship aspirations, catches winless Marshall which now has the dubious distinction of holding the nation's longest winless streak—18.

The Falcons are battered and may be without quarterback P. J. Nyitray, who has a shoulder injury.

Oakland Wins Over Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rick Barry, star of the Oakland Oaks in the American Basketball Association, is noted more for his shooting than his passing.

He threw in 29 points in leading the Oaks to a 143-127 victory over the Los Angeles Stars Thursday night but, actually, he passed off more than he shot. This more than offset the 40 points Steve Chubin scored for the Stars.

The victory moved the Oaks back into first place in the Western Division, half a game ahead of New Orleans. It was the Oaks' first triumph at home but only 1,623 turned out.

The Stars stayed close-in the first half, but the Oaks broke a 56-56 tie to lead 79-63 at halftime and stayed in front.

Houston beat Dallas 108-90 and Indiana took Denver 122-100 in the other two ABA games scheduled.

Cincinnati, with quarterback Greg Cook at the throttle, tangles with North Texas in a Missouri Valley skirmish. Cook is Kent is given a good chance to finally claim that elusive first victory but the Cardinals won't be easy on Kentucky soil.

Dayton and Xavier, both coming off losses, are trying to keep their heads over the .500 mark. Defending champion Ohio Wesleyan must check Baldwin-Wallace's strong attack as the co-leaders in the OC tangle. Both are 3-0.

40 Candidates Expected For Basketball

Circleville High School's new basketball coach, Garold Sowders, expects to have between 35 and 40 candidates report tonight at the first cage practice.

"We have handed out quite a few physical cards," said Sowders, who is well pleased with the interest in the round-ball sport.

"We expect another eight or ten from the football squad after the last game," he reports.

Kelly Boyer, assistant coach, will handle the sophomores. The varsity and reserve squads will practice together after school.

Sowders has scheduled a number of scrimmages for the basketball team.

RICHARD M. NIXON For PRESIDENT

No one is better qualified to be President of the United States than Richard M. Nixon, who served as vice president for eight years under President Eisenhower, and who was an outstanding Congressman and U. S. Senator before that.

Dick Nixon believes in America and fully understands the operation of government at every level. He knows the demands of the Presidency and has the ability to provide answers to the massive problems that face our nation.

Dick Nixon will give America the new leadership it needs — at home and abroad.

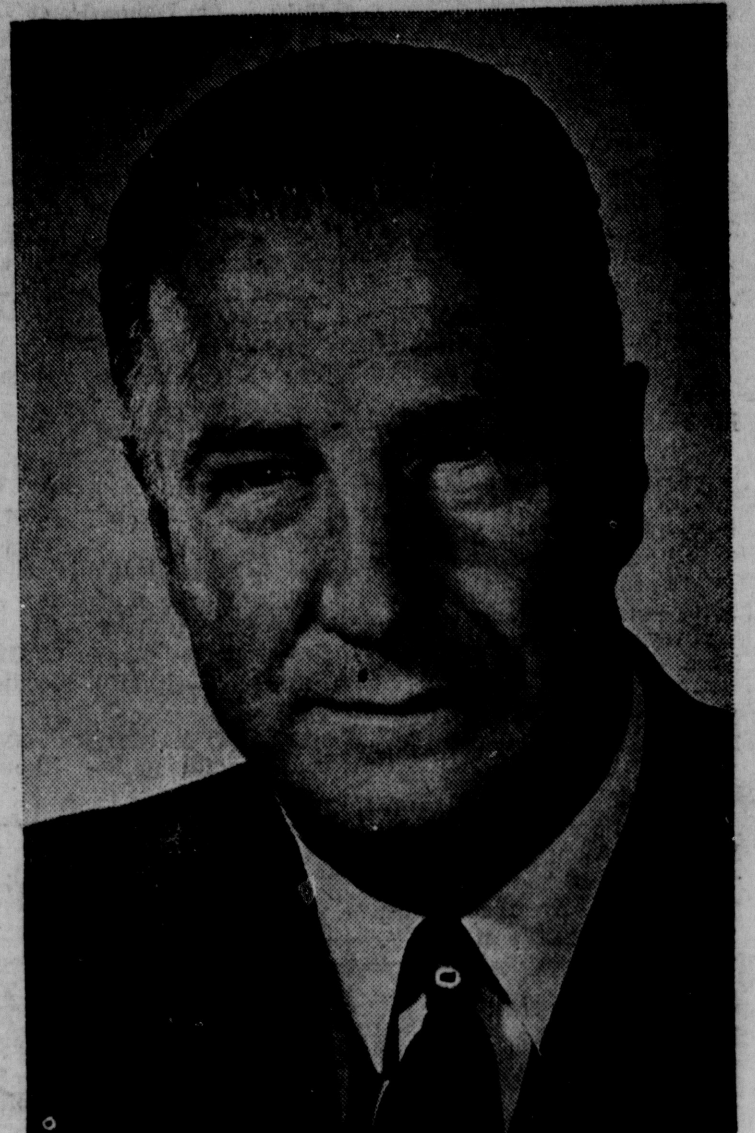

Richard M. Nixon, 55, was born in Yorba Linda, Calif., Jan. 9, 1913. Son of Francis A. Nixon, who was a native of Vinton County, Ohio and Hannah Milhous Nixon. Holds bachelor's degree from Whittier College, Calif., and a law degree from Duke University. Married to former Patricia Ryan. Two daughters, Patricia and Julie.

SPIRO T. AGNEW For VICE PRESIDENT

Spiro T. Agnew is a sound thinker and a man of action. As Governor of Maryland and, before that, Baltimore County Executive, Ted Agnew established a solid reputation as an outstanding public administrator.

Governor Agnew has become known for the straightforward way he handles affairs of government. His vast experience in dealing with the problems of the cities and in federal-state relations has given him an ideal background for serving as vice president.

Spiro T. Agnew, 49, was born in Baltimore, Md., Nov. 9, 1918, son of Greek immigrants. (Agnew's father changed the family name from Anagnostopoulos to Agnew). Educated in Baltimore public schools, attended Johns Hopkins University, and graduated from the University of Baltimore. Married to former Elinor Judefind. Son, Randy; daughters, Pamela, Susan and Kimberly.

William B. Saxbe— For U. S. Senate

At a Time Like This . . .

Bill Saxbe — legislator, lawyer and innovator — highly experienced in handling problems of today — is Ohio's best choice for United States Senator.

He has been an originator and proponent of Ohio's most forward-thinking legislation. He has been tested and proven by his outstanding performance as Speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, Ohio's Attorney General and Chairman of Ohio's Crime Commission. He has been in the forefront of improvements in Workmen's Compensation, re-organization and upgrading of state crime control agencies and the development of the "jobs for progress" program.

. . . It Should Be Saxbe!

Spiro T. Agnew, 49, was born in Baltimore, Md., Nov. 9, 1918, son of Greek immigrants. (Agnew's father changed the family name from Anagnostopoulos to Agnew). Educated in Baltimore public schools, attended Johns Hopkins University, and graduated from the University of Baltimore. Married to former Elinor Judefind. Son, Randy; daughters, Pamela, Susan and Kimberly.

At a Time Like This . . .

Bill Saxbe — legislator, lawyer and innovator — highly experienced in handling problems of today — is Ohio's best choice for United States Senator.

He has been an originator and proponent of Ohio's most forward-thinking legislation. He has been tested and proven by his outstanding performance as Speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, Ohio's Attorney General and Chairman of Ohio's Crime Commission. He has been in the forefront of improvements in Workmen's Compensation, re-organization and upgrading of state crime control agencies and the development of the "jobs for progress" program.
